

106 BC

QUINTUS SERVILIUS CAEPID
returned ALL courts,
including the extortion court
to the Senate

106 BC \Rightarrow 48 BC

Born

Died

GAELUS POMPEIUS

Pompey. the little "The Great"
was given him perhaps half in mockery, by Sulla. He proved himself the most capable of Sulla's subordinates. He received from the dictator (Sulla) the consular honor of a triumph

106BC - 104BC

Marius defeated JUGURTHA

Jugurtha was captured in Ambush
& died in Roman Prison 104BC

106 - Dec 7, 43 BC
Born died

Cicero
Marcus Tullius Cicero

106 BC

Marius defeated JUGURTHA

106 BC

POMPEY born
106 BC - 48 BC.

Roman General, rival of Julius Caesar. Sometimes called Pompey the Great. He was son of Cn. Pompeius Strabo (consul in 89 BC)

106 BC

JUGURTHA Captured
Died 104 BC in prison in Rome

106 BC

The Chinese also launched an export business in silks to western Eurasia, and the first through caravan arrived in Persia from China via the Transasian Silk Road 106 BC

106 BC born

43 BC Died

Cicero, Roman Politician And Orator.

106 BC
Born

Died
48 BC

Pompey (The Great)

106-430c

Cecilio wrote that his friend & teacher, the philosopher POSEIDONIUS had "recently made a globe which in its revolutions shows the movements of the sun & stars and planets, by day and night, just as they appear in the sky."

1/6/106BC

Cicero was born

106 BC

DURANT

Marius forced JUGURTHA's surrender.
The people did not learn at this time
that the chief agent of this victory was a reckless young aristocrat
LUCIUS SULLA

106 BC

DURANT

Birth of Cicero.

Birth of Pompey.

106 BC born

43 BC died

Marcus Tullius Cicero

900 of his letters still exist

106BC - 43BC
Born died

Marcus Tullius Cicero

Jan 3 106 B C

Marcus Tullius Cicero was born
to a locally prominent family
connected with Gaius Marius,
at ARPINUM.

106 BC

Silk Road. The opening of the first transcontinental silk road across Asia was marked by "through" caravans from China to Persia; this event was preceded by the Chinese establishment of fortified posts strung westwards; the route then passed through the lands of the Huns before reaching Persian-controlled territory.

Jan 3, 106 BC

Marcus TULLIUS CICERO was born near Arpinum, the birthplace of MARIUS

106 B.C.

Marcus Tullius Cicero was born
at ARPINUM.

He spent his boyhood in Arpinum and Rome where he studied law, philosophy
and public speaking.